

Happy Mayan New Year

Article by Dr. Jose Jaramillo

If someone go to Guatemala and find some of the Mayan Elders and then ask them what is the name of the year, then they would say: 'The current year is called 'Lahun Iq,' which means '10 Wind'. We now know that started last February 22nd of the year 2009. This coming week on Gregorian Monday February 22nd 2010, we are moving into the year of '11 Deer'. It is a year of liberation and also a year of healing and to find our own shaman within us. The deer day sign is related with the four authorities, but who are those authorities, well are the four elements and the four corners or pillars of the world. This year would bring to all of us the right tools for every task in life and it is with these that if we do our work, then we would be able to rise above limitations. This is the year to trust in your own path, because deer day sign has the habit of keeping every tool it has ever used for choose the right path in our journey.

Also this year of 11 Deer kin 167 is the year of the four elements, in our external world we are going to be able to see more and more in front of our eyes the manifestation of the four elements fire, air, water and earth. Eleven is the number or the tone of liberation and our mother earth and the whole cosmos want from us to liberate ourselves through the right use of the four elements. If we have the right kind of consciousness then we would be able to understand that is important for our mother earth to be in the presence of the four elements. If we do any kind of healing or even in our meditations, this year we should bring into the presence of our healing or meditation the four elements.

Fire turn on a candle, air turn on an incense, water put some water in a glass, earth have a plant in the presence of your healing or meditation. As we can see the day sign of 11 Deer is in the Galactic Week of the Earth, so we all have the purpose of the Earth, also it is important to recognize that this day sign is red and for the Mayans the four different colors among the sacred calendar bring us the understanding of the four law color of creation: Red initiation, White refinement, black transformation and Yellow completion.

Since the year 2000 we all had been in Red Galactic Weeks of Initiation, please ask yourself if you feel that you had been initiated since then. So be aware that the purpose of all this year from February 22nd 2010 through February 21st 2011 it is know the year of 11 Deer Kin 167, which is in the galactic week of 1 Earth kin 157. This year of the deer is a year of service to others; lets be all-together and embrace the power of all as one big family, lets honor oneness and be one with ourselves with the earth and with our creator.

Next year on February 22nd 2011 we all gone be moving to the year of 12 Road kin 12, it would be the year of cooperation and would be a year of the bearer of time and the conductor of destiny, it would be the year to recognize that if we do not act with a humble heart then we would not make the difference, it would be the year to release all our negative emotions and unexpressed resentment that only can lead us to illness, hatred, anger and frustration. Lets be aware what the future would bring to all of us, let unite all in one heart, one people and one earth.

The year 2012 on February 22nd the year of 13 Earth Kin 117 would begin, it is clear sign that mother earth and with everything on it would evolve into a higher dimension of experience, it would be the year of transcendence for our earth and everything on it. This year would be the year of keeping the garden of our mother earth, the year to find a profound synchronistic connections to earth's natural cycles, that is why that more and more people would start to use the Mayan calendar, because it would be the year to feel the energies that provide powers of creations and memories of ancient wisdom. It would be inevitable it would represent the year of the return of men and women of wisdom. This year would give us to all of us the opportunity to reconnect to the dynamic forces of nature and would be a year to give thanks to mother earth for all her gifts.

Please notice that 13 Earth kin 117 is the Red galactic week of 1 serpent kin 105 so the purpose for all of us would be to finally recognize that we all have that life force within us, this new big movement all over the world would inevitable it would be the time of creation of the new heaven on earth, it would be the year to have as our purpose to open and expand our hearts and to bring justice that is quick and sure. This year would be the year to ask for flexibility and fluidity, it also important to follow your instinct in order to survive any circumstances. Again would be a year of red galactic week and the final year as an opportunity to initiate something new in our lives. Then when February 21st of the year 2013 arrive it would be the year of '1 Wind kin 222' and the beginning of the white galactic weeks of refinement.

Please enjoy this amazing year of 11 Deer, lets heal ourselves and liberate our souls from this dream that keep us trap into this third dimension of experience, it is time brothers and sisters to be free and like someone says: 'You should know the truth and truth would make you free.'

Happy Mayan New Year peace and love to all and the force of the creator be with you all!
