"Measuring the larger realities, the forces of destiny, as evidenced by the positions of the planets, the veritable Gods of all the mythologies of the world doing their best to explain complex, destined themes of destiny, is what Astrology is all about." - Michael O'Connor

Tip of the Week:

Between Pluto in its final few days before entering Aquarius on November 19 to more fully begin a 20-year era during which time we can expect revolutions on many fronts (and which will significantly transform humanity as a whole), Saturn in Pisces turns direct today (Nov. 15) after 4.5 months in Pisces, and all under the Full Moon in Taurus today, which is exactly conjunct Uranus.

Altogether, this can be described as a 'shaker combination'. However you define it, this shaking will prove awakening. These events can be regarded as precursors to a very pivotal next couple of years. The likelihood of the next major push towards digital identification and currency is high on the list of probabilities, whether we know, believe it, like it, or not.

Looking ahead to next year, by late March 2025, Neptune will enter pioneering and new beginnings Aries, followed by Saturn about a month later, then by early June, Jupiter will enter Cancer, then by mid-June it will form its last but most powerful square with Saturn in Aries, the seeds of which was the powerful conjunction at 0 Aquarius exactly on Winter Solstice in 2020.

Then Uranus will enter Gemini in early July hosting the final major count with the waxing Moon counting the seconds, metaphorically speaking, in context to the overall dynamic culminating on July 10.

Yes, we have indeed arrived at the next major turning point and it will again have global implications.

Weekly Horoscope:

Aries (Mar 21 – Apr 20)

Some turns are hard and sharp, and then there are the hairpins and sometimes black ice is inconspicuously hiding. These metaphors reveal the current tempo. Among the wise actions is to slow down and to proceed prudently and without assumptions. Life does not judge or tell you what to do, but it does teach by consequences.

Taurus (Apr 20 – May 21)

Pluto will enter your solar house of career and social status in general. It first entered in late March 2023 activating the initial shifts, then again in January this year. Now comes the follow-through and there are strong indications that it has already, but could now as well produce even more changes, some of which you might not have anticipated.

Gemini (May 21 – Jun 21)

Your worldview has been changing progressively for the past year and a half or so. This could amount to literal moves and changes in your daily rhythms and lifestyle generally. So, the stage is probably set for this next important chapter. It could prove a little empty or leaving you wanting, especially in the shorter term, but something special is coming in December.

Cancer (Jun 21 – Jul 22)

Pluto in Aquarius could prove extra powerful for you, especially in the earlier stages. Events beyond your control could require a deep dive into your hidden reserves of faith. If so, be careful not to attempt to overanalyze. Rather, focus on breathing deliberately and deeply, and focus to think with your heart and feel with your mind.

Leo (Jul 22 – Aug 23)

Pluto entering your solar house of relationships implies endings, but also new beginnings. In fact, you could enter a whole new chapter of engagement with destined power players at this time, and over the coming days, weeks, and months. Positively, a whole new level of creativity and exposure is likely. Are you ready for it?

Virgo (Aug 23 – Sep 22)

Changes in your daily rhythm, yet also associated with your public life, are playing on each other, and this will become increasingly evident. Commitment is the keyword in the short term, and expansion is on its heels. The twist regarding the latter is that it requires contraction, which includes words like discipline, patience, and perseverance.

Libra (Sep 22 – Oct 22)

You are entering a new phase of power. It may be that you have been experiencing something of a dark night and for some time now. This week could reveal the first glimmers of a more uplifting cycle, which stands to get brighter progressively in 2025. In the short term, focus on what constitutes beauty close to home, or make it so.

Scorpio (Oct 22 – Nov 21)

Boom! It is not a negative word unless you are resisting the flow. Change is in the air, like thunder and lightning purging and purifying with attitude and fortitude. This will prove startlingly clear close to home and on relationship fronts. Interpret the events as happening 'for you' as fully as you can and roll with them onto higher ground.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 – Dec 21)

Sometimes, we get insights, epiphanies, and illuminating realizations from other sources, and then there are times when the doors get blown open wide. This could prove to be one of those times. Keeping both feet on the ground could prove challenging, but is important. Be willing to learn and to see yourself and situations with fresh perspectives.

Capricorn (Dec 21 – Jan 19)

Are you ready to double up on your focus? While not necessarily a sharp turn, you have entered a period when your entire direction and/or attitude is steadily changing. Positively, expressing what you deem valuable and important is coming across clearly. Yet, you are also wise to listen more deeply and notice more fully how others are responding.

Aquarius (Jan 19 – Feb 19)

Things are shaking in your world, yet while it is obvious to you, others outside your private circle may not notice but your significant others do. You want to be heard and heeded and this could be the source of some tension. Your mood should lighten up when the Sun enters Sagittarius next week and even more so into December.

Pisces (Feb 19 – Mar 20)

Pluto in Aquarius will serve to clear layers of 'junk' memory and limiting self-concepts from your subconscious mind. The process will be slow but sure, and it has already begun. Yet, now it will also build momentum steadily, which it has not been able to do to date. Liberation is a keyword and you are wise to consciously cooperate as fully as you can.
