"The New Moon on November 1st, All Saints Day, at 9 Scorpio 35 carries with it a hidden charge of aggression subject to unscrupulous ambitions. With many planets in difficult signs currently and for the past weeks and months, this has become something of a new norm." - Michael O'Connor

Tip of the Week:

November begins with a New Moon at 9 Scorpio 35. This degree shares close association with Aquarius, which is ruled by Uranus, and is currently in Taurus. As mentioned in previous weeks, most of the planets are currently in difficult signs. Ironically and auspiciously, many of the planetary aspects currently are positive.

The New Moon chart of November 1 does host some of these challenging aspects, especially including a tight, critical 29-degree Opposition aspect (180 degrees – symbolic of a tug-of-war...) between Mars in Cancer, (the sign position where it manifests like an edgy and aggressive carpenter removing dead wood before the new construction begins), and Pluto in Capricorn, the sign of governments.

However, Mercury is entering philosophical, ethics, and principle-driven Sagittarius, joining forces there with Venus. And Mars will enter brave and heroic Leo on November 2 and 3, respectively.

That Venus Opposes Jupiter in Gemini, (where it is challenged to maintain a steady focus and is subject to distractions and disruptions), also on the same day that Mars and Pluto will be exactly opposed, just hours before Mars enters Leo, and all of this happening on Sunday, November 3... is brow-raising indeed.

So, all of this complex weave of the dynamic force of reckoning will be in place on the scheduled day of the U.S. Election.

Have a great week.

Michael

Weekly Horoscope:

Aries (Mar 21 – Apr 20)

Just when you might have thought that you can't go any deeper, the universe sends you support to do exactly that. The push, pull, or call, or however else you might describe it, will not simply go away ignored or dismissed. Surrender does not necessarily mean defeat and it can prove ever so sweet when it is to your soul.

Taurus (Apr 20 – May 21)

Are you ready to go to the next level in your most intimate relationships? Well, ready or not, you are about to do just that. The twist is that the process includes freedom and variety too. Perhaps it is the scope of your focus and the time has come to include others, inviting them to enter more fully into your inner circle.

Gemini (May 21 – Jun 21)

Some cycles speak of transformation and this is one of them. The implication is not simply one of change, but of a deeper process in which the whole sense of who and how you are shifts - leading you to perceive and engage with the world utterly anew. The signs of this transformational process will be revealed in the very way you begin your day.

Cancer (Jun 21 – Jul 22)

As though entering an artist's studio, or a seeker's sanctuary, an atmosphere of inspiration is enveloping you. It is true that it also comes with a challenge to activate new attitudes and approaches. Improvement and refinement are key words, and expressions, or at least appreciations of beauty, are a guiding principle.

Leo (Jul 22 – Aug 23)

A deep dive into the deepest reaches of your being has begun. You should be aware, however, that it stands to have a shaking effect in some of your most intimate relationships. These could manifest as sudden turns or even as endings altogether. Positively, it includes an adventurous journey into the heretofore hidden reaches of your being.

Virgo (Aug 23 – Sep 22)

In terms of our successful, evolutionary journey, our beliefs, perceptions, interpretations of others and the world, and our self-concepts change, significantly. This is what is meant by the ancient mystical assertion “The art of life is the art of dying.” The death it refers to is not that of our body, but of our mind, and this death is ever followed by rebirth.

Libra (Sep 22 – Oct 22)

Getting clear on what is truly important and of value to you is underway. While this can well include knowing where and how to invest, the emphasis is not necessarily, or at least not directly, on financial interests. Taking time to determine what constitutes your highest priorities and then directing your sincere focus there will bring positive returns.

Scorpio (Oct 22 – Nov 21)

The New Moon in your sign is activating a whole new impulse to embrace change. Commonly, change is resisted because it is symbolic of entering the unknown. Upon reflection, you will notice that you have done this all your life, even as a child. Trust in your abilities and faith in the process, are golden keys to see you through to the new.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 – Dec 21)

Often, deep processes of change and transformation occur within, beyond the reaches of obvious observation before they emerge in the here and now. You have entered such a process. Although it is subtle, you can choose to acknowledge this process and even tune in to it as a means of bridging your conscious will with that of your soul.

Capricorn (Dec 21 – Jan 19)

The Scorpio New Moon is activating beginnings and endings too among some of your closest friendships or social networks. This will become increasingly evident over the coming days and couple of weeks. Positively, you will be free of those associations that absorb your energy and you will be re-energized where it really matters, now and next.

Aquarius (Jan 19 – Feb 19)

In its higher reaches, Scorpio is symbolic of emotional self-mastery. This is among the more important themes for you to be aware of and to integrate now. Aspects of this process could prove edgy, but it will prove important and even necessary for you to persevere. Fortunately, the rewards of your efforts will be felt as liberation.

Pisces (Feb 19 – Mar 20)

Deep, mysterious, and enigmatic Scorpio is directly associated with your higher mind. As though a magical doorway leading into the hidden reaches of an ancient mountain is appearing before you. While you are meant to enter, you should be prudent in your approach. Positively, wonders await you and they are of the kind that you will recognize as sublime.
