"That the time has come for major changes at both individual and collective levels can be a helpful perspective, as opposed to assuming that they are simply circumstantial and who or what, therefore, is to blame. Whether at personal or collective levels, these evolutionary dynamics are force-playing us all to adapt and the question is: will you do so guided by the themes of your destiny, or reactively?" - Michael O'Connor

Tip of the Week:

Pluto poised to enter Aquarius on November 19 is the really big news that anyone who knows anything about Western Astrology is talking about.

Looking at the world scene, all the synchronicities are there. It makes all the 'The Zodiac is out of whack' folks appear to be, well quite out of whack. Yet, before Pluto makes its final push into the Water Bearer sign, it will first scrape through the final stages of the critical 29th degree of Capricorn, requiring faithful, patient perseverance from us all!

The result of the U.S. Election is the most significant indicator of this powerful, revolutionary dynamic. Yet, we should all expect and many are experiencing, feeling, and seeing signs of major shifts, changes and transformations occurring in our world in ways not evidently related.

The bottom line is that whether directly or indirectly, major changes are occurring right now affecting us all and the main question is how to best respond. These changes are features of destiny, as indicated by Pluto entering Aquarius in 10 days hence, for example, and to better understand how to best respond, you are wise to understand your destiny, and I can help you to do so.

This week's Horoscope will emphasize the bigger picture as Pluto prepares to exit Capricorn and enter Aquarius to finally begin its steady push over the next 20 years!

Have a great week.

Weekly Horoscope:

Aries (Mar 21 – Apr 20)

In sync with these complex times, your world is changing. From a soul level, let alone instinctive, strong intuitions guiding you to do what you feel you should and not simply want, are surfacing. The emphasis in your public and professional life is at least sharing the spotlight in this regard. Alternative approaches to fortifying your foundation are featured.

Taurus (Apr 20 – May 21)

Seeing a bigger picture has long been a prime objective for you. Balancing the practical realities with the revolutionary and rapidly-changing times has been a central theme. You have worked diligently to balance a practical and philosophical perspective. While this goal remains, the time has come to assert new measures, and these could prove revolutionary.

Gemini (May 21 – Jun 21)

The time has come to both see a bigger picture and to assert deliberate action, accordingly. There are many levels of the 'bigger picture', so it is for you to decipher what this means to you. You have likely been in a process of preparation for some time now, so the focus could be on tying loose ends, but also of making some bold moves.

Cancer (Jun 21 – Jul 22)

Some changes are deeper than others and you have been immersed in some very significant ones since spring 2023. Now here comes the next major push, one which requires a deep consideration of your deepest values and highest priorities. This process includes clearing the clutter on one hand, and themes of investment and long-term commitments, on the other.

Leo (Jul 22 – Aug 23)

Significant changes on relationship fronts will push through into the next phase. These could be personal or professional fronts. Endings are likely. Yet, people from your past could re-enter your life as well. Positively, these changes will lead, or perhaps push you to consider alternative paths and approaches. Consider that any endings now are for your highest good.

Virgo (Aug 23 – Sep 22)

The spotlight is upon your career and public life. You have likely achieved some measure of authority over the years. Positively, you have built a momentum that will support you through the next major phase about to begin. It could even lead you to new levels of popularity, or even fame and success. Embrace new opportunities with commitment.

Libra (Sep 22 – Oct 22)

All being well, your overall quality of lifestyle has been steadily changing over the past months and you are healthier, or have a better handle on issues. If you have been resisting, denying, evading and deepening any health issues with reaction, then the repercussions will be loud and clear very soon. Use this as a measure of how self-honest you are, or not.

Scorpio (Oct 22 – Nov 21)

Pluto entering Aquarius is destined to shake things up close to home. The signs of the dynamic have been written on the wall for many months. Positively, you are pushing through to completion with long-standing projects. Yet, major renovations or major moves altogether, are also possible scenarios. Know your rights and stand for them, as necessary.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 – Dec 21)

A whole new mode of perception on reality has been brewing for about a year and a half. Now you are poised to cross a threshold that will lead you to perceive things as with new eyes. Outer realities at play will contribute to instigating these changes, and there stands to be several fronts converging all at once! Calmness is power.

Capricorn (Dec 21 – Jan 19)

Pluto through your sign has likely synchronized with some major changes lately. Although the overall theme reaches back to 2008, some more recent events and/or inner shifts of perspective are what are most important. Get ready to become much more focused, yet also be aware of the resources, powers, and supportive influence of other key players.

Aquarius (Jan 19 – Feb 19)

Pluto entering your sign should be enough to realize the possible implications. Positively, a whole new resolve is rising and it will lead you to assert levels of personal power you did not know existed. These could also manifest as uplifting changes close to home. Yet, the deeper implications emphasize new and powerful modes of self-expression.

Pisces (Feb 19 – Mar 20)

It is said that our greatest sense of security is to feel deeply connected to our soul. This can be described as your deep subconscious mind. Either way, it is accessed through your heart. It is not only all about love, but of personal truth and self-honesty. Then, there are the significant others in your life, and this is where the plot thickens. Do it for them and for you.
