"I had a relationship reading 2 years ago, and now I am thinking how accurate you were to see the relationship for what it was and to see each of us so clearly. Thank you for your reading." ~ Hyegwi

Tip of the Week:

Autumn Equinox is upon us and technically occurs on September 22 at 8:44 am EDT. Casting the chart for that moment offers insights for the entire season based on a principle of fractals, which indicates that the whole can be ascertained by significant features of the parts. Observation has proven this to be true and relevant. Among the more significant factors to observe is the exact relationship between the Sun and Moon, which itself offers a fractal perspective of the whole chart. Of note is the fact that the Moon is waning in the early degrees of Gemini widely conjunct Uranus.

The exact degree and phase of the Moon reveal themes of high levels of skepticism, leading people to think critically and conduct their own research on matters, further emphasized by Mercury in Virgo and Mars in Cancer. This can include delving into deeper levels of metaphysical and spiritual truth as well as those associated with social politics.

With a strong Pisces factor involved, possible themes of mass deception are part of the plot.

Venus and Pluto both at the critical 29th degree of Libra and Capricorn respectively, basically imply themes of overcoming.

Fasten your seatbelts, folks, the ride is about to get wilder, as truth seekers push to see through deceptions and make efforts to engage others in their findings.

Weekly Horoscope:

Aries (Mar 21 – Apr 20)

A deliberate focus on relationship fronts will become increasingly evident this week. Dealing with deeper complexities than usual will lead you to want to dive in and seek out root themes and causes with ardent ambition, determination, and drive.

Taurus (Apr 20 – May 21)

Get ready to push harder than usual for the truth of love and the love of truth. Your creative, critical thinking cap is on and you will be making full use of it. Determined to focus on a variety of fronts, things could get a bit hectic and scattered, so aim to be organized.

Gemini (May 21 – Jun 21)

The Sun in Libra tends to be a creative cycle for you. Yet, it could also prove somewhat dramatic. Venus in Scorpio will add to the drama requiring you to give more than you perhaps want to. You are probably wise to slow down a bit and curb expectations.

Cancer (Jun 21 – Jul 22)

A dynamic cycle is underway and will accelerate yet. While many will be struggling with Venus in Scorpio, it stands to lend a passionate, playful, and inspirational verve to the plot. With Mars firmly anchored in your sign, you will probably need creative outlets to release the pressure.

Leo (Jul 22 – Aug 23)

A more varied and stimulating social cycle is starting and will last several weeks. There is a creative impulse, but it could require that you tie up loose ends and unfinished projects, clear the clutter, and purge as necessary to release stagnant energies.

Virgo (Aug 23 – Sep 22)

Paying closer attention to your overall balance score is likely over the coming weeks. Your focus will likely include a variety of fronts, from finances to energy levels and health to relationship boundaries. With Mercury in your sign, your focus is sharp supporting precision.

Libra (Sep 22 – Oct 22)

The Sun in your sign will boost your energy levels and lead to whole new initiatives over the coming weeks. Financial matters will play a lead role. Pushing ahead in your public and professional life is featured. It may be time to assert yourself in ways you have not before.

Scorpio (Oct 22 – Nov 21)

Get ready to get busier behind the scenes. While this is often a time for retreat, it could amount to a busier cycle than usual. As well, your retreat could emerge to become an adventure as you are called to enter new territory. The more you acknowledge your core sense of individuality, the better.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 – Dec 21)

Who are your friends, who are not, and who could perhaps be? A social mood vies with deeper considerations about what you feel you truly as opposed to simply want or desire. With your ambitions running strong, you could push through prior obstacles, or get away from it all

Capricorn (Dec 21 – Jan 19)

Sometimes life can seem like three steps forward and 2, 3, or even 4 steps back. Perception and interpretation are relative so focus on seeing the positives so that if you are stepping back, you are still one step ahead. Still, you may have to meet people and situations with an added edge.

Aquarius (Jan 19 – Feb 19)

Libra time is often one during which you step back to see a bigger picture, as with admiring the beauty of the season. This year, deeper ambitions that are already brewing are leading you to assume different attitudes and approaches to familiar orientations.

Pisces (Feb 19 – Mar 20)

Some cycles require deeper changes than others and you are just entering one now. Positively, these will lead to the breakthroughs you feel you want and need. With your energies running a little higher than usual and a lingering playful mood, focus on harnessing it to productive ends.
