"It is not so much a matter of who is on the world stage, (although it does matter), it is more fully a feature of our times. In other words, these dynamic trends and outer realities are all features of the human condition at this turn of history." - Michael O'Connor

Tip of the Week:

Despite the lower temperatures as Autumn 2024 gets underway, things are heating up on the social, political, and global game boards.

Given the status of planetary sign placements and aspects between them, these exciting and dramatic synchronicities are apt. All the far outer planets, including Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto are in one form of complex, and even complicated positions or alignments with other planets.

Altogether, these reveal heightened tensions, especially regarding social politics and themes of justice. As an altogether moody cycle that will last throughout October, we are probably wise to anticipate things getting even crazier progressively. With a historical election race unfolding in the United States, this comes as no surprise, but it too is all a feature of these alignments, as well as a strong source of the circumstances stirring the proverbial pot of the revolutions of evolution.

Have a great week!

Weekly Horoscope:

Aries (Mar 21 – Apr 20)

Life is all about relationships and that is your main focus now. A deep dive into passionate engagement whether of the pleasurable sort or the more dramatic, or both, should be quite evident by now. In any case, you are determined to get to the root of matters and you won't likely handle interference or rejection very well.

Taurus (Apr 20 – May 21)

A busy, creative cycle requires more attention on more fronts than usual. This naturally suggests that you have to give more than usual. Digging in deep with aims of getting to the bottom of things, or to be thorough in your efforts, are featured. Fortunately, there are indications that your energy levels are running high.

Gemini (May 21 – Jun 21)

Virgo time is one during which even more attention than usual is directed towards home and family. Practical considerations are featured, along with subtler, psychological themes. You may have to work a little harder than usual, yet with a steady pace you will be better able to achieve your goals.

Cancer (Jun 21 – Jul 22)

Mars in your sign has been pushing you to be more proactive and drive harder than usual. However, it also offers the opportunity to explore new territory and to enjoy some of life's simpler pleasures as well. Realizing the sweet spot between these contrasting themes will prove uplifting.

Leo (Jul 22 – Aug 23)

A process of building upon new foundations, and or fortifying existing ones, continues. If all you do is get organized in terms of your strategic approach, you will be on track. When the Sun enters Libra a more intellectual, possibly social, and inventive mood will be activated so do what you can to prepare.

Virgo (Aug 23 – Sep 22)

Themes of adventures and pioneering initiatives have been guiding your choices and actions. Ironically, these can include breaking away from areas and avenues of focus that no longer hold appeal or serve your practical interests. Reconsidering your priorities includes time management and this focus will continue for several weeks.

Libra (Sep 22 – Oct 22)

Although with the Sun in Virgo you have likely been inclined to retreat for a while, at least in bouts, Venus in Libra currently indicates inspirations to express yourself in original and creative ways. Yet Mars in Cancer seeks knowledge of the methods to get to go deeper yet, as with deep repairs and healing.

Scorpio (Oct 22 – Nov 21)

Exploring new frontiers, at least in your mind, and perhaps especially regarding your own realms of thought and expression continues. This could include new friend prospects and social networks. Feeling torn between playful experiences and those that are more practical and dutiful is an ongoing balancing act.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 – Dec 21)

Virgo time generally includes thoughts and experiences regarding your public and professional life. Deciphering how to incite more attention and the kind you want is featured. Beyond practical realities, your aim now is to align that much more fully with your sense of individuality, which involves social engagement.

Capricorn (Dec 21 – Jan 19)

Pluto back in your sign is serving to push you to attend to whatever requires final touches and actions that bring old affairs to completion. Circumstances will push you to be sober and realistic in your assessment of what mode of perception and thinking simply no longer serve. Interestingly, you are learning to unlearn.

Aquarius (Jan 19 – Feb 19)

Virgo time is ideal for you to focus on cleaning, cleansing, and purging. Healthy improvements are central themes. Sun and Mercury in Virgo are supporting this focus. This process is associated with deep changes in you that have been percolating since spring 2023, at least. Much of the focus is directed to home and family.

Pisces (Feb 19 – Mar 20)

Your social outreach includes the quality or lack thereof of your engagement. The time is right to activate new strategies and to make key improvements. Sometimes, some adjustments and refinements are all that are needed. A learning curve is implied so adjust your attitude accordingly.
